

Attachment F Results of Census and Interviews

Citywide Families in SROs Collaborative Member Agencies

The Chinatown Community Development Center (CCDC) is a community development organization that serves as neighborhood advocates, organizers and planners, and as developers and managers of affordable housing in Chinatown and surrounding areas.

Contact Angela Chu: 984-1468

The Chinese Progressive Association (CPA) is a grassroots organization that seeks to raise the living and working conditions of Chinese Americans and to give ordinary community members a stronger voice in the decision-making processes that affect their lives.

Contact Wendall Chin: 391-6986

Coalition on Homelessness, San Francisco (COH) seeks to address the root sources of homelessness and poverty by working directly with economically marginalized communities to collectively address their needs and adopt their ideas for change.

Contact Mariana Viturro: 346-3740

Hogares Sin Barreras (HSB), a project of the Coalition on Homelessness, works to promote and protect the human and civil rights of homeless and low-income Latinos in the Mission District by employing a unique strategy that connects outreach, advocacy, and direct action organizing.

Contact Miguel Carrera: 861-7419

Homeless Prenatal Program (HPP) provides a wide range of services and support for women and their families including prenatal care, medical assessments, group counseling, housing assistance, childcare assistance and referrals. Services are provided through an empowerment and peer leadership model.

Contact Krea Gomez: 546-6756 x 36

Mission Agenda is a poor people's organization that helps people acquire social services to address their survival issues, builds peer support and leadership among poor people, and educates their constituency and the community at large on issues facing poor people and the root causes of poverty.

Contact Ron Groshardt: 436-9707

Mission Housing Development Corporation (MHDC) works to protect low-income residents' right to quality affordable housing by building affordable housing with service-enriched environments, preserving existing affordable housing, creating active tenant associations, and engaging in community organizing efforts.

Contact Wendy Phillips: 864-6432 x 311

St. Peter's Housing Committee (SPHC) is a community-based organization that organizes, educates, and empowers tenants of low or fixed incomes to challenge unjust living conditions and express their rights to decent, safe, and affordable housing.

Contact Maria Poblet: 487-9203

