Clinic Name: Southeast Child-Family Therapy Center

Address: 100 Blanken Ave. San Francisco, CA 94134

Phone: 415-330-5740

Training Coordinator: Toni Jung, Ph.D.
Phone: 415-330-5744; E-Mail: toni.jung@sfdph.org

Description of services provided & population served:

Southeast Child-Family Therapy Center is a community mental health center affiliated with the City and County of San Francisco, providing comprehensive therapy services for ethnically and linguistically diverse children, adolescents, and their families. We provide services to the southeast section of San Francisco—Bernal Heights, Excelsior, Outer Mission, and Visitacion Valley—through comprehensive services, school consultations and satellite programs.

Our clinics provide psychotherapy services for an ethnically diverse clientele of children and their families. Southeast’s multicultural and multilingual staff of experienced child therapists includes child psychiatrists, clinical psychologists, marriage and family therapists and clinical social workers. Eight of our clinical staff are bilingual, providing services in Spanish and Chinese.

Our primary population is composed of children ages 3 through 18 who experience difficulties at home, in school, and in the community due to family conflicts, learning problems, loss of a primary caretaker (as in the case of divorce or death of a parent), sexual and/or physical abuse, physical illness and stressors related to low socioeconomic status. These children may display aggression, anxiety, depression, running away, substance abuse, gang involvement, or other difficult-to-manage behaviors. The families may be suffering the effects from such stressors such as immigration, community or family violence or CPS or court involvement.
Since our focus is on the child in his or her environment, we value our work with families and utilize a variety of therapeutic modalities, including individual and play therapy, family and/or group therapy. Group therapy often includes therapeutic activities which help the youth express themselves and improve their self-esteem. These activities have included art, drama, music, community outings, rock climbing, games and sports. Medication evaluations are also available, as well as psycho-pharmacological treatment when appropriate. In addition we coordinate our services with community referrals and provide case management as needed to facilitate access to community resources, including, but not limited to low-fee medical services, recreational activities, tutoring and legal assistance. We also work closely with and provide case consultation to other agencies that specialize in serving children.

Early identification, intervention and prevention are fundamental aspects of our program. Since two-thirds of our clients experience moderate to severe school failure, school collaboration and consultation are essential to the early intervention process. Psychiatric consultation is provided to School Assistance Teams at elementary and middle schools. We also provide on-site services to two schools. There are also Incredible Years Parenting Training groups in English, Spanish and Cantonese. Child care and a meal is provided for these groups.

We accept MediCal, Healthy Families, Healthy Kids and other insurance (except HMO’s); our fees are based on a sliding scale according to the family’s ability to pay. No one is denied services due to financial hardships. Many special education students also receive Educationally Related Mental Health Services if it is determined that emotional problems are contributing to the student’s academic difficulties and ability to utilize special education services at school.

Address: 375 Woodside Ave. San Francisco, CA 94127

Phone: (415) 753-7773

Training Coordinator: Jessica L. Schutz, LCSW

Phone: (415) 753-7815 E-Mail: Jessica.Schutz@sfdph.org

Description of services provided & population served:
Special Programs for Youth is the clinic inside San Francisco Juvenile Hall that provides medical and behavioral health services to youth in custody at Juvenile Hall and Log Cabin Ranch. It is part of the Community Behavioral Health Services division of the San Francisco Department of Public Health. The Behavioral Health division addresses all the in-house behavioral health needs of youth detained at the San Francisco Juvenile Justice Center (JJC) Care in accordance with California Standards Authority for juvenile detainees.

The behavioral health team consists of psychiatrists, psychologists, social workers, marriage and family therapists, and masters and doctorate level trainees. On-site behavioral health support is available 12 hours-day, seven days-a-week. The SPY Behavioral Health pager is carried 24-hrs a day, by Behavioral Health staff during the day and by nursing staff overnight, for response to urgent BH needs of detained youth. An on-call psychiatrist is always available to JJC after hours and on holidays.

Individual and Group Therapy
The Behavioral Health Team at SPY is involved in addressing the acute, and here-and-now emotional and behavioral health needs of the youth. Also, even in absence of a mental health condition, many youth experience the juvenile hall detainment and the court process as stressful, and the behavioral health clinicians work with these youth individually to help them in coping with their day-to-day stressors. The therapy services provided at juvenile hall address mental health symptoms or adjustment difficulties that the youth are experiencing while at the juvenile hall. Supportive therapy interventions and cognitive-behavioral therapy interventions are the most used modalities. Insight-oriented psychotherapy is also utilized, as indicated.
Group Therapy is provided on some units utilizing evidence-based curriculums such as Aggression Replacement Training (ART), Seeking Safety, and Girl’s Circle.

Assessment
At each admission to JJC, youth meet with Behavioral Health staff for an assessment interview to review mental health symptoms, psychosocial status, adjustment to juvenile hall, and identify current needs.

Crisis Intervention and Monitoring of High Acuity Youth
Behavioral Health staff provides crisis intervention and stabilization for all youth in detention. This includes daily monitoring of all youth who have been placed on extended room confinement by Juvenile Hall and high acuity youth.

Suicide Prevention
Behavioral Health staff provide evaluation and develop a suicide prevention plan for all youth who are demonstrating self-injurious behaviors and/or are at high-risk for self-harm.

Coordination
SPY Behavioral Health is in ongoing communication with the Juvenile Probation Department and the JJC staff toward the aim of providing for the youths’ needs while they are detained. BH attends a daily morning meeting with JJC staff and weekly multidisciplinary meetings with Juvenile Probation. Caring for youth also frequently involves communication with the Human Services Agency, SFUSD, juvenile public defenders, CBHS community contractors, and group homes in the delivery of behavioral health services to youth in detention and planning for release. The behavioral health team works closely with SF AIM Higher for youth with moderate-to-profound behavioral health needs to ensure needed linkages to community based programs, therapists, and psychiatrists, to plan for services upon release.
