

San Francisco Health Network
Maternal Child and Adolescent Health

Hannah Hecht, MCAH Epidemiologist Intern, 2021-2022

Hannah graduated with a bachelor's degree in Psychology from Pomona College in 2018. After working as a study coordinator in community-based clinical psychology research for two years, she is completing a Master of Public Health in Maternal, Child and Adolescent Health (MCAH) at UC Berkeley. For her MPH internship at SFDPH, Hannah is writing a data brief on MCAH mental health in San Francisco, preparing local mental health data for the upcoming citywide health needs assessment, and developing an online interactive dashboard to facilitate public reporting of local MCAH mental health data. Hannah intends to pursue a career in applied research that promotes health equity among MCAH populations, particularly when it comes to mental and reproductive health.